PACCOR WAS AWARDED THE SILVER ECOVADIS MEDAL

PACCOR, one of the leading global players in the plastic packaging industry, has announced that it has been awarded the EcoVadis silver rating for its sustainability efforts.

At PACCOR we CARE about a better tomorrow, today. Based on their main four key points being: Circularity, Alliances, Resources, and Employees, as well as non-financial indicators, the CARE strategy describes how PACCOR works towards this every single day. PACCOR has set clear and ambitious goals for 2023 and are openly sharing a sustainability report.

EcoVadis is one of the world's most comprehensive sustainability assessment tools, evaluating companies on social, ethical, and environmental impacts. The used methodology is based on international sustainability standards (such as UNGC, ISO, GRI, etc.) and grades the efforts across four main pillars: Environment, Labor and Human Rights, Ethics and Sustainable Procurement.

In 2020, PACCOR determined that there was a need to create a structured sustainability roadmap and accelerate their own efforts. To strengthen this, they made the commitment to achieve a silver medal for EcoVadis by 2023. Today, PACCOR is very proud that they were able to reach this milestone one year earlier, combined with the biggest score increase ever for PACCOR. This was supported by a significant improvement in all four pillars, which shows that sustainability is at the core of their entire business.

"This is a big encouragement for the entire PACCOR family, as it clearly shows that the hard work done in the last year matters and moves the needle for the entire organization," says Andreas Schuette, CEO at PACCOR. "This outcome only strengthens PACCOR's mindset towards a better future. We care about a better tomorrow, and we will continue our push to do even better in the next year," concludes Andreas Schuette.
